Foreign rights catalog 2025

Mehrsa Publications was born in 2011 as a specialized publisher in the field of «Brain and Cognition» and in order to produce high quality educational content for a wide range of educated audiences from professors to counselors, families and the general public in the Mehromah Holding.

The production of self-learning books with the aim of improving brain abilities is one of Mehrsa's priorities for the adult audience, for example, we can mention the «Brain Club» book series. Books on parent-child relationships have also been prepared for adults.

After some time, Mehrsa started working in the field of children's books and is currently one of the most successful publishers in the field of children's books in Iran.

In the children's section, books aimed at mental empowerment, social skills development, educational goals and strengthening moral values, recognizing emotions, recognizing the body, etc. are prepared and produced in Mehrsa in the form of fiction, non-fiction, picture book, poetry, and activity books.

Children's Brain Club

1-3

Children's Club" series is for parents and teachers who believe that learning and entertainment for children should go hand in hand. In this collection, we seek to teach children how to use their multiple functions (such as attention and memory) and solve the exercises of this collection; Exercises that are purposefully arranged, step by step and gradually from easy to difficult, and at each step, the child faces a new challenge. In this book, various cartoon characters (such as Baby Moshi and Baby Pishi) have come to our aid so that they can encourage the child on this path.

“Children of the Homeland”

“Children of the Homeland” is a collection of illustrated stories about children from different regions of Iran, who strive to preserve a part of their family’s heritage. These children are not indifferent to the challenges their family businesses face. Instead, they actively take steps to find suitable solutions, and in doing so, each child becomes the hero of their family.

In addition to preserving their national identity and family heritage, entrepreneurship is another key theme in this collection. The stories also place a strong emphasis on critical thinking, problem-solving, and teamwork skills.

The cultural aspects, architecture, climate, and nature of each region are beautifully woven into the backdrop of these stories, making them a rich exploration of Iran’s diversity.

The Henna Girl

A little Baluchi girl lives and works with her family in a traditional henna grinding workshop. She is worried that her father might listen to his business partner and abandon the henna business.

Because of her love for henna and the family business, the girl does everything she can to prove that, contrary to what her father's partner says, the henna market can thrive. She believes new ideas and strategies can be tried to develop and expand the business.

Ordinary People Change the World

The “Ordinary People Change the World” series presents the biographies of famous and prominent Iranian figures in a simple language and a comic strip format suitable for children.

This series includes the books:

Nasir al-Din al-Tusi

Professor Sami'i

Nasir al-Din al-Tusi

From a young age, Nasir al-Din al-Tusi had a great passion for learning and discovering new things. Due to his dedication and perseverance in the pursuit of knowledge, he became one of the greatest scholars in the world. With his wisdom, he managed to gain access to the court of the ruthless Mongol ruler, where he helped to curtail wars and bloodshed. Using the power he gained, he undertook many remarkable initiatives to advance science, culture, and civilization in Iran. He wrote numerous books, saved many from destruction, and established large libraries. One of his most significant contributions was the founding of the Maragheh observatory.

Majid Sami'i

Majid Sami'i is one of the world's greatest professors of neurosurgery. From childhood, he was interested in learning scientific matters and dreamed of becoming a doctor. He worked so hard toward this goal that he eventually achieved his dreams. He founded the first microscopic surgery laboratory and has saved the lives of many patients. He has also built the most advanced neurosurgery hospitals in the world. One of his most important initiatives is the "Africa 100" project, in which he taught surgery to one hundred people from the underprivileged continent of Africa, earning him the Leibniz Ring Award. He believes that learning and teaching with love can lead to progress.

Our Home is Here

The three-volume set “Our Home is Here” uses the theme of getting to know animals and their interactions within natural ecosystems to provide a great opportunity for parents and educators. By reading the short texts in these books and engaging with the illustrations and conversations around them, they can introduce children to basic concepts of emergent literacy skills.

Play, Play, Perform

The two-volume set “Play, Play, Perform” contains five plays in each volume, suitable for creative theater performances with toddlers and children. A positive feature of these plays is the simplicity of the stories and their lack of need for complex tools, as well as the indirect messages embedded in the text. The creative illustration of the plays also paves the way for the blossoming of children’s imagination when engaging with them.
